Our Mission:

The mission of The Campus Kitchens Project is to use service as a tool to:

Strengthen Bodies by using existing resources to meet hunger and nutritional needs in our community;

Empower Minds by providing leadership and service learning opportunities to college students, and educational benefits to adults, seniors, children, and families in need; and Build Communities by fostering a new generation of community-minded adults through resourceful and mutually beneficial partnerships among students, social service agencies, businesses and schools.

ckp by the numbers

3

Three new Campus Kitchens opened in 2006 at the following schools:

Washington & Lee University
University of Nebraska at Kearney
Wake Forest University

2006 was an unprecedented year for CKP's numbers. More than 2,000 student leaders at 10 Campus Kitchens dedicated 53,000 hours to recycling 172,000 pounds of nourishing food; delivering 151,444 well-balanced meals to seniors, children and families in need; and leading 25 programming initiatives like culinary job training and nutrition education to empower our communities.

116

52 unemployed adults graduated from CKP's culinary job training programs in 2006, bringing our 5-year total to 116 grads.

CKP celebrated our fifth anniversary this year at our annual Leadership Conference. We honored the following schools and students for their outstanding work with CKP:

- Nikki Goldwater and Jen Daniels, CKP Volunteers of the Year
- Becky Locker and Eleanor Heidkamp-Young, Ingrid Easton Student Innovation Award
- Minnesota State_Mankato, Award for Excellence in Student Impact
- Augsburg College, Award for Excellence in Operations

5

CKP engaged 58 academic classrooms in service learning partnerships in 2006. Through these partnerships, students engage in Campus Kitchen work as a part of their classroom learning.

58

CKP operates ten Campus Kitchens across the country, in public and private, large and small, urban and rural schools.

financial statistics

40.5%

About 40% of CKP's budget comes from donated goods and services, like donated food, kitchen space, and office space. Our host schools and food donors provide these donations so that we can put donor dollars toward enhanced programming like nutrition education and culinary job training.

12.2%

The Campus Kitchens Project is committed to making productive use of each dollar donated. In 2005, CKP's management and general expense constituted 12.2% of total expense when in-kind donations were included.

ckp's return on investment.

8%

For every dollar invested in CKP, we are able to return $1.08 worth of value in meals, volunteer interaction, and services to the community.

CKP calculates its ROI by comparing what it would cost for an agency or individual to provide a delivered meal themselves to the costs CKP incurs to do the same work. Our use of existing resources and volunteer energy drives our costs lower, allowing us to do more, for less. In 2006, we provided meals for an average of 8% less than our clients could have provided them themselves. Eight cents on the dollar may not seem like a lot of money, but when compounded across 151,444 meals, it allows agencies to use thousands of budget dollars toward valuable programming, not food.

$159,098

CKP has committed $159,098 in start-up grants to schools to start new Campus Kitchens. These grants are made possible through our corporate and foundation donors.

our schools

Ten schools across the country host Campus Kitchens, operating student-powered food rescue, meal preparation, meal delivery, and educational programs. Additionally, thousands of students from more than 50 other schools engaged in work at our Campus Kitchens. Their work included regular volunteering, participating in alternative spring break trips, organizing local food drives and fundraising events, and engaging in service learning projects.

CKP values each and every supporter as a important part of our organization. While our annual report only lists our major contributors, all donations are valuable to our hunger relief efforts. We work hard to ensure the accuracy of our information and apologize for any errors or omissions.

student donors

CKP marked our fifth anniversary with our first-ever 5 for 5 contest, which challenged 5,000 students to raise $5,000 to fight hunger. Here are the students that accepted the challenge and generously supported our hunger relief efforts. The Campus Kitchen at Washington and Lee University won the contest after raising the most money.
